Overview

Denae's practice emphasizes real estate and business transactions and effective and efficient resolutions of litigation matters. Having tried over fifty cases to verdict uniquely equips her in drafting agreements so that they are self-executing to avoid disputes in the future. If a dispute cannot be resolved, Denae is adept in the courtroom.

Denae represents clients in the financing, acquisition, leasing, and disposition of real estate assets. She also assists clients in the formation, structuring and dissolution of business entities. She acts as outside general counsel for several small businesses as well.

Her trial experience assists her in counseling clients in litigation matters where she focuses on the client's goals to provide clear and concise counsel to her clients along with advising the potential cost and consequences of certain decisions. Whether negotiating and drafting real estate agreements business contracts, or handling a litigation case, Denae evaluates the client's goals to provide the most efficient options.

Clients rely on Denae for her transactional and litigation expertise and also seek her advice as outside general counsel.

She holds a B.A. from University of California, Los Angeles, a M.Ed. from University of California, Los Angeles, and a J.D. from Santa Clara University Law School.

In her free time, she enjoys bare boat sailing and scuba diving.
